WORK STARTED ON THE CEMENT WALKS.

Contractors on the Ground This Week.

Contractors Davidson & Westaway, who were the lowest tenderers for the cement walk on Nanton St., Hamilton and Oliver avenues, were in town on Monday making arrangements for the delivery of material. They drove out to Gull Lake to examine the sand, and report it to be the best in the world for the construction of the walks. They can get a very fine sand, a clean sand, and clean gravel on the shores of the lake. The sand and gravel is absolutely clean and free from any injurious substances. The contractors are men of experience in this line of work, and have large contracts this year at Calgary. They are also putting in the cement walks at Red Deer, Nanton St., with up-to-date walks, a $10,000 opera house and other valuable buildings being erected this season, should become one of the leading streets of Lacombe.

NEW $8000 THEATRE FOR LACOMBE.

Construction to Commence at Once—Seating Capacity For 500.

The above were a few of the facts given out to The Globe yesterday morning in reference to the erection of a new theatre building.

That we will have a theatre second to none in Alberta is beyond a doubt. Mr. Shilleto, who is putting up the new building, left for Calgary this afternoon to get detailed information. After the same has been secured the plans will be completed and construction will commence immediately.

The new building which will have a pressed brick front, will be 90 feet long and 40 feet wide, having one story and a spacious gallery. It will cost in the neighborhood of $8,000, will have a capacity for 500 people, be steam heated and will be a modern theatre in every way.

Manager Rogers of the Pekin will lease the building for a period of time, and in connection with the moving picture show, will be in a position to secure the best troupe on the road for Lacombe.

The building of a first class theatre has been under consideration for some time, and the condemning of the old theatre building on Saturday evening, placed matters in such a position that something had to be done. Delivery of brick commenced this morning and it is anticipated that the building will be completed by October 1st.

Painful Accident.

Mr. George A. Hardy had the misfortune to meet with a very painful and serious accident last Wednesday afternoon, being struck by a freight train on the east railroad branch, having both legs broken below the knees. Mr. Hardy who came here from the Old Country about three months ago was employed at the brick yard and at the time was walking along the track on a return trip from getting a pail of drinking water from L. McDonough's place, about half a mile away.

The engine whistled repeatedly but the victim heard no noise, owing possibly to him being used to noise of machinery at the brick yard, and therefore paid no attention to the warning. The train was brought to a standstill within two car lengths, after the accident occurred and Hardy was brought to town and removed to the Hospital.

The left limb is in bad condition, the bone protruding through the flesh. The right limb is broken on and also the right foot.

The physicians in attendance say that his condition is good and if no complications set in, the unfortunate man will recover without the loss of either limb.

LACOMBE TO BRAZEAU BY DECEMBER.

Manager of Company Gives Out Interesting Information.

"We intend to spend more than $2,000,000 in the development of the Brazeau coal fields in the next eighteen months. It is our intention to make our property the model mining community of the west."

Thus spoke Martin Nordegg, managing director of the Brazeau Collieries, Limited, which owns immense tracts of coal land extending from the Athabasca south through the mountains to Laggan, a reporter.

The Brazeau Collieries are owned, half and half, by the German Development Company and McKensie & Mann.

"We have now about fifty men employed in the opening up of seams in three different places. We will be putting coal on the market by December 1st, 1911, over the Canadian Northern branch, now under construction from Stettler by way of Lacombe and by the Wolf Creek branch from the Canadian Northern main line to the coast."

"How does your coal compare with the Crow's Nest?" Mr. Howie who is an expert in bituminous coal, was asked.

"It is far better," he said at first with a laugh, and then he modified his remark by saying: "Frankly speaking, it is practically the same as the Crow's Nest. It is just as good."

Two esteemed contemporaries are endeavoring to convince mankind—that is the masculine part of it—that it ought to emulate the ladies and dress in a manner appropriate to the summer weather. This is a brave talk, but we like men to have the courage of their convictions, and we shall take more stock in the sincerity of this agitation when we see the proprietor, or the editor, or even some of the reporters of these revolutionary sheets appear on the street in a peek-a-boo shirt waist.

Of General Interest

When Mr. Roosevelt was in Britain during his term, that country also had as a guest the ex-President's old opponent, W. J. Bryan. The spoils to the victor, as the old Romans used to say, and the world applauds Roosevelt, but pays small heed to the unsuccessful Bryan. Yet the latter is one whom any nation might be proud to claim as a son. With wonderful gifts of oratory that earned him the title of the Silver-tongued Orator, he devoted much of his time and talents to Religion and Philanthropic work. While in Britain he attended the Great Missionary Congress held in Edinburgh, Scotland, as a delegate one of a great Army of 1200 people, representing every Christian Denomination, which had gathered there to discuss Mission Work in all its phases. The importance of such a gathering can hardly be overestimated and Mr. Bryan, as a delegate, though not so much in the lime light as his countrymen, was perhaps doing more valuable service to humanity.

Engaged in the making of this new country are representatives of many people and some who were citizens of no mean city. We can hardly help at times contrasting the rough surroundings of the present with the luxuries and privileges with the old home we have left. To those of us who are given to such thoughts there is a suggestion and a reproof in these lines which we copy from the Calgary Herald.

SHALL I COMPLAIN.

Shall I complain because the feast is over,
And all the banquet lights have ceased to shine, For joy that was, and is no longer mine,
For love that came and went and is no more,
For hopes and dreams that left my open door, Shall I, who hold the past in fee, repine?
Nay, there are those who never quaffed life's wine, That were the unluckiest fate one might deplore.
To sit alone and dream at set of sun,
When all the world be vague with coming night,
To hear old voices whisper sweet and low,
And see dear faces steal back, one by one,
And thrill anew to each long past delight, Shall I complain, who still this bliss may know?

A learned professor has been analyzing the different colored eggs to find out if there is really anything in the notion some folks have that colored eggs are more nourishing than white ones. He can find nothing to corroborate this, and says it is only a fad, or at best a leaning that many people have toward colored articles. We have noticed this trait long ago, and find it mostly among men who even prefer a little something in their drinking water to give it a little color.

There was an old Bible sold at auction the other day, purchased by an American collector, that dates back to the year 1549. It has numerous quaint depictions from our present day translation and also has some features that are no longer to be found in our copies. One is a prologue to the Book of Jonah and the other is a commentary on the 3rd chapter of St. Peter which says, "And if she be not obedient and helpful unto him let him endeavor to bring the fear of God into her heart and thereby she may be compelled to learn her duty and to do it." What would our Buffington ladies say to this old world recipe for making a good wife.

"He, being dead, yet speaketh." A special meeting of a Town Council in England had been called to discuss the programme for honoring the funeral of King Edward. After this had been disposed of the Chairman of the Juvenile Delinquency Board was addressing the bachelors for some young offenders in town and a Councillor drew the attention of the meeting to the inconsistency of a Board who wished to honor the memory of the "Peacemaker" advocating the rod for young folks. Result, no bachelors.

The following letter from Mr. J. L. Poole, appears in the issue of The Toronto Globe, of July 11th.

To the Editor of The Globe:—I notice that in a late issue received by me last Saturday, I think, you talk about the crop prospects in the Northwest, citing your report from Winnipeg, which isn't in the Northwest at all. Reports from Winnipeg are too far east of here to be of much or any value. You might almost as well gather up the news of our crops, or in fact of anything else, in the streets of Toronto as gather it in Winnipeg. I suppose that the reason why you do this is because Winnipeg is west of Toronto, but I must remind you that that city is a long way east of this Province. However, I suppose that I am giving the editor advice on how to run a paper, as the country editor would say, and on matters which, after all, are none of my business.

Perhaps you would like to know something about the crops, just the same. From Calgary, south they are good, some good, and for fifty miles north from Calgary they are just about as bad. In the eastern part of the Province—that is, commencing from about 60 miles east of here to the eastern boundary line—they are gone there, too. There is no getting over that distressing fact. The reason of it is simply lack of rain.

I know of a farmer in the southern part of the Province who sowed 300 bushels of wheat last spring, and none of it has appeared above ground yet. I understand that in the city of Lethbridge all municipal works have been suspended, baseball games called off and general stagnation and discouragement stalk abroad.

On the line of the Calgary & Edmonton Ry. from a point about sixty miles north of Calgary, and extending to Edmonton, embracing a width of about twenty miles, the crops never looked better in the history of Alberta. We have had lots of rain, and it has got another shower or two before harvest everything will be more than lovely, unless we get some hail or frost in the meantime. We are thus hoping for the best.

J. L. POOLE.

Lacombe, Alberta, July 4.

Too Vast for Crop Failure.

In criticizing the exaggerated crop-damage stories about a very sensible view of the Western country is taken by the Montreal Gazette. That paper says editorially in a recent issue: "People are prone to forget that the Canadian West is an immense country. The wheat-growing section is some eight hundred miles long east and west by a breadth that is not yet definitely ascertained, but that in the longitude of Edmonton is at least three hundred miles. It is not within reason to expect that throughout all of such a territory like conditions will prevail, good or ill. There will be years of great and years of minor crops, and generally it will take the thrashing to show exactly what the results are. The hopefulness which generally characterizes the West usually brings predictions of big yields early in the season, and every year or so the early predictions are justified by harvests that are only excelled in the highly cultivated fields of Great Britain, France and Germany. This hopefulness gives place at times to a reverse feeling, and generally, at this time of the year, without sufficient cause. It is not reasonable to expect that every year in that great country there will be gathered a harvest such as made the record of 1909 so satisfactory, and when the signs point to moderate returns the country over there is no justification for depression. Not many solidly based businesses will be shaken by one short crop, whether it be local, and the result of particular causes, or widespread and due to general conditions. If a lessened yield is the cause of some of the gas being let out of the speculative balloons the result need not be cause of wide mourning. So in the East, a flurry in the stock market should not make any one nervous nor cause him to part with his property for less than its reasonable worth. There are now, as there are always, conditions visible which should make the prudent merchant careful as to what he allows himself to be committed, and while the man who pays heed to such conditions misses some of the great crops that occasionally gratify the plunger, he also avoids the losses that with fair regularity bring the plunger to grief. The conditions in Canada and in the United States, with which Canada's commercial interests have many connections, are as a rule fairly satisfactory. Wages are good and employment is plenty, two conditions that speak of a healthy feeling among those who have money to invest. In the dairy country the farmers are getting good returns. Where other branches of agriculture are followed the promise is not unsatisfactory. Many large enterprises are being carried through, and though they involve much borrowing and ultimately much paying back, experience does not give occasion for thinking the safety limit has been passed. The reports of large transportation and financial companies tell of extensive trade being done at profitable rates. There are in some quarters, it appears, signs that people are indulging less than usual their taste for expensive luxuries, but that may not be a bad sign, and it might become much more manifest without creating alarm. They will be wiser, who without counting too much on a crop that is not yet reaped, refuse to become alarmed over prospects that may not be realized and do not pay too much heed to stock exchange movements largely affecting speculative values, often speculative in origin and sometimes deliberately designed to produce panic feelings."

Advise the Country.

This is the season above all others when an effort should be made through all available channels to make the condition of things here known, and to get people from other parts of Canada and from the United States to come here and see for themselves. "Booming" one district in a season which is everywhere favorable is like running a business in a line that is crowded. The effort necessary to produce results is out of proportion to what it would be were the competition less. This year there is less competition from other districts in soliciting attention. This offers us the opportunity of getting a maximum of attention with a minimum of effort and expense. Now is our time to tell the world about our part of it—and to get people to come and see.

Not that we should go into any campaign for knocking any other part of the Canadian West. That is neither right, wise nor necessary. But we should see to it that the conditions known to exist in some localities are not mistaken as existing also here. To see that there is danger of this being done one has only to look at the copies of eastern papers coming to hand. Many of them have reports about the western crops. Invariably the reports are that the crops will be less satisfactory than usual. But in none of them is distinction made as to Central Alberta. And because such distinction is not made, the readers of these papers will accept the picture presented as applying generally throughout the western country. This mistaken impression is what we have to correct. Central and Northern Alberta is "different" and we want the world to know it.

There is an opportunity for profitable immigration effort in those parts of the western country where things are not, this year, so satisfactory as they might be. Many new-comers to such districts are certain to get discouraged and to look about for new pastures. Unless they are given to know that the conditions which they find unsatisfactory are the very reverse of the conditions in this district, the chances are they will return to the older Provinces or the States and the value of their enterprise and industry will be lost to the Province and the West. If by means of advertisements or photographs published in papers read in such districts the attention of these dissatisfied parties can be drawn to Central Alberta, substantial results should be achieved by securing a number of them to "come and see" before they depart. If they come and see, the rest may be left with themselves and the crops. They will stay.

TRIMBLE & GARLAND, Owners

We should be able, too, to get part of the immigration from Manitoba which has heretofore been going into Saskatchewan. This movement has been assuming large proportions during recent years—so large that Manitoba members of the House of Commons fought the pre-emption regulations, lest they should induce still more of the sons of Manitoba farmers to leave the home province. The appearance of this district in a season which is admitted to be unfavorable in parts of Manitoba would be even a stronger attraction to such men. And better and more desirable settlers for this district can nowhere be found than the young men who have been growing up on the farms of Manitoba.

The publicity agents which the Provincial Department of Agriculture sent east some time ago are sending along some excursions from points in the Eastern Provinces. These trains run right through to Edmonton and the travellers will have an opportunity of seeing this part of the country in comparison with others and with that they leave behind. The impression upon them cannot but be favorable and should make them enthusiastic agents for securing more settlers for this district.

The railway companies operating into this district could do a splendid service for themselves and for the West if they would concentrate immigration effort on this part of the country for the balance of the season. They should be willing to do this because a settler in the Edmonton district is worth more to them than one located nearer Winnipeg. His outgoing crop and incoming supplies have to be hauled farther over the railways and the longer the haul the more money there is in it for the companies operating the railways. If this phase of the case were put up to them properly they should be found willing to run special excursions through from Winnipeg during the Edmonton fair, which would bring large numbers of new-comers and of Old Timers in that Province.

Attempt to Scale Mount Robson.

A second attempt to scale Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Rocky Mountains, at the Yellowhead Pass, will be made this summer by Messrs. A. L. Mumm, a publisher of London, Eng., and J. L. Collie, also of London, two noted mountain climbers, who last year made an attempt to climb the heights of Mount Robson but failed.

They will leave Edmonton in a few days for the west, going to Wolf Creek via G.T.P. and west from there to the Pass with pack ponies. The party are to be outfitted for the route by a Lacombe man, Mr. Fred Stevens, who is an experienced prospector and outfitter. He will furnish the party with sufficient supplies to outfit them for the six or seven weeks that they expect to be beyond civilization in the mountains.

Mount Robson is by many hundred feet the highest peak in the Rockies. It is situated close to the mouth of the Yellowhead Pass and is 13,700 feet in height. Many attempts to scale the peak have been made; but all have failed, save one, that made by a Canadian last year.

A Canadian, Rev. F. Kinny, of Okanagan, B.C., was the first to successfully scale the peak. He encountered many dangers, and risked his life more than once, last summer, before he finally reached the top. The trip to the summit and return occupied a full two days, during which time Kinny and his guide nearly starved.

Mrs. L. B. Browne is spending a few weeks at Castor.

An order has been issued by the Dominion Railway commission directing the Canadian Pacific railway to revise, and re-issue special tariff rates on coals and coal from all shipping points of Lethbridge, Crow's Nest and Cranbrook sections, westerly.

Race riots, street fights, shooting and stabbing affairs have occurred in many cities of the United States as the result of Mr. Johnson's victory over Mr. Jeffries. If these are numerous enough and serious enough they may convince the peace-loving people of the Republic that the cause of the disturbances should not be allowed to repeat itself.

The coroners jury which was held to inquire into the cause of the Montreal Herald building disaster brought in a verdict holding no one responsible for the collapse of the water tank and the serious conflagration which caused the loss of 34 lives and the injury of some 20 others. The Montreal city council, at a meeting last Wednesday voted the sum of $10,000 in aid of the bereaved families.

No moving pictures of the Jeffries-Johnson fight will be seen in the province of Ontario. An order in council was passed at a meeting of the provincial cabinet last Thursday, prohibiting the exhibition of prize fight moving pictures in Ontario. This will apply to all prize fight pictures, but it is aimed at the Johnson-Jeffries fight. The penalty for breach of this will be a fine of not less than $300, and a further fine of $25 per day after conviction.

There is very great rejoicing throughout Winnipeg because of the crew winning one of the great classic sweepstake races at Henley on Thursday last. They have secured a victory that will be welcomed throughout the length and breadth of the Dominion. That the crew will have a big reception when it reaches home is beyond a doubt, and Winnipeg carmen are already suggesting plans for a suitable welcome. The rowing club flag was immediately hoisted on receipt of the news, and a scene of general jubilation is to be witnessed at the headquarters of the crew. While the city has not had time to arrive at a decision, a public reception to the crew is being generally talked of on the streets and when they arrive home the public will likely take them in hand and demonstrate its appreciation of their mastery victory over the chosen crews of Europe.

The Gadaby Gazette Says—Much of the anxiety with regard to the crops has been removed these past few days by the good rains and fine growing conditions that have already given the grain a new lease of life. Unfortunately these better conditions do not seem to be general and there are still some districts reporting an absence of rain. It seems that these climatic changes lately have been working in patches and breaking only into rain here and there and it is trying the philosophy of our farmers very severely. At time of writing it looks as if the rains were becoming more general and with the high temperature should make up quite a bit of the leeway. It has been a subject of general comment that in our own district, while growth was slow, the color and starchy appearance of the grain gave evidence of a soil that can stand a lot of adverse weather conditions with but little damage.

A penalty of $5,000 is the event of a failure to obey the law is provided.

Salt Lake, Utah.—Because the Salt Lake Herald, a Republican newspaper, printed the statement of an alleged highwayman named Riley, confessing to the murder of a local grocer, Judge Lewis, last week, sentenced George Hals, manager of the paper, to 30 days in jail and fined him $300 for contempt of court. The managing editor, city editor and one reporter were each sentenced to 10 days. Stay of execution was granted in each case pending appeal.

About 200 veterans' land grants have been cancelled by the department of Lands and Agriculture, out of 12,000 located. Many of these claims were those which were sold to speculators and many more are awaiting the blue pencil of the department. Those who purchased veteran claims did not purchase the rights of the veteran, and wherever the duties have been evaded by the purchaser the government proposes to cancel the claim.

Washington, D. C.—Startling reports on the condition of spring wheat have been made by the report of the board of the Department of Agriculture. The average condition of spring wheat in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota and Washington, the four states which contain more than 88 per cent of the total spring wheat acreage in the United States was 82.5 as compared to 92.3 a year ago and the ten-year average of 87.8. The average condition of spring wheat throughout the United States at the beginning of the present month was 61.6 while a year ago it was 92.7, and the ten-year average was 87.1. This means that the crops of the United States will be only two-thirds of what they were last year. The issuing of the report had an immediate effect upon the wheat markets of the country.

Ottawa.—Frank Hines, of Halifax, who is making a wager to walk from coast to coast and return, arrived here the other day from Montreal. He will start for Brockville. The trip was commenced at Nain, Labrador, on April 2, 1910, and from there he walked to St. Johns, a distance of 500 miles crossing by boat to North Sydney. From North Sydney, F. O. R. was his road to Montreal. Hines is on a wager of $2,000 to make the trip to the Pacific coast and return by October 17, 1911. He figures that he is now four days ahead of the schedule, he has mapped out Part of his agreement is that he shall work his way, and he started without any money. He called on Sir Wilfrid Laurier while in Ottawa, and received a certificate and donation from him. He is feeling fit for the continuation of the trip, and is well dressed, though he says he has worn out 32 pairs of shoes already. The total trip will be 15,000 miles.

It is rumored that King George and Queen Mary will make a tour of the British Empire.

Mayor Wm. F. White of the city of Lawrence, Mass., has been sentenced to serve three years in a House of Correction and to pay a fine of $1000 for conspiracy in the matter of appointing a Fire Chief for the city, and on a similar charge later to obtain the Chief's removal from that position. The company will build a dock costing $1,200,000, able to handle vessels of 20,000 tons. The marine department will establish a depot at Prince Rupert, including lighthouse and buoy service, at an expenditure of $100,000.

The Attorney-General's Department has decided that no departmental action can be taken in the matter of stopping the exhibition of prize fight pictures in this province for the reason that there is no legislation in force in the province authorizing such action on the part of the government, or providing any means for dealing with a matter of this nature. The department is prepared whenever possible to enforce existing legislation, but in this instance an order-in-council would not meet the case.

Campbellton, one of the most flourishing towns in Northern New Brunswick, is in ashes with a loss estimated at $2,000,000, and four or five thousand people rendered homeless. Fires are down and full particulars are not yet available. Many people have sought refuge at Dalhousie, six miles away; others crossed to the Quebec side of the river for shelter. The fire started last Tuesday afternoon at Richards Mill, above the town, and swept clean through taking all but a few buildings on the outskirts of the town, which had a fire department and gravitation water system.

New York.—Another traveller has come back home from South America with tales of the vanished polar explorer, Dr. Frederick A. Cook. This time it is Dr. Robert Kelly, of Philadelphia, and he brings a photograph to prove his tale. Dr. Cook shows in print, wearing a long rain coat, a golf cap, and without the moustache he had when he toured the country giving lectures. Dr. Kelly did not succeed in interviewing Dr. Cook. "The doctor keeps very much to himself," he explained, "and avoids Americans whenever possible." He is living in Cumby, 12,500 feet up in the Chilean Andes. I believe he will stay there until he can come back with some sort of proofs." Not the least interesting development of wireless telegraphy is the manner in which the invention has been utilized for producing newspapers on board ship. No longer does an ocean voyage mean that one is cut off, for the time being, from news of all happenings on land. Nearly all the big trans-Atlantic liners issue newspapers on board, and every morning passengers are served with the latest news at the breakfast table, just as they would be on land. On the voyage of the Lusitania during the recent general election in England full reports were printed in the Osmond Daily Bulletin every morning of the results announced in London on the previous night. The circulation of the Bulletin is over 2,000 a day, and has reached 3,500. It consists of 32 pages, ten inches by six inches, is excellently printed on fine glazed paper, and sells at 24 cents per copy.

Munich, Bavaria.—A sharp earthquake was felt here at 9:45 o'clock last Wednesday morning. The walls of several schoolhouses cracked and the teachers and pupils ran into the streets shrieking. General Porfirio Diaz, who will be 80 years old September 30th, was last week re-elected by the electorate college as President of Mexico for a term of six years, this being the seventh time that he has been chosen by the people of the country as head of the national government.

France's Decreasing Population—In France there has been a continual decrease in the birth rate which has now assumed such proportions that the government is called upon to do something. One of the plans is to put a tax on bachelors, and a bonus to those who get married, while changes are to be made in the land laws. There are some who say that the real cause of the decrease in the birth rate is the poverty of the middle classes. The rich do not want to be bothered with a family and the poor cannot support one. As an instance of the fine point to which living is drawn in the old land it is stated that the average size of each farm in France is 11½ acres. Think of that, Alberta farmers, where if a man has only a quarter section he feels cramped and is at least partly satisfied if he has at least 640 acres. France has a difficult problem to solve, but she is certainly going about it accomplishment in a novel manner.

Frost & Wood No. 3 Binder

Has a Strong "Back Bone"

The Frost & Wood No. 3 Binder is built to stand more hard knocks than a binder is commonly supposed to encounter. Striking a bolder or bumping over rough ground does not affect this binder. That's because the binder's back bone consists of heavy pieces of steel firmly riveted together and because the platform is connected to the main power frame by a double steel brace. It's the quality in material and workmanship that the makers put into the Frost & Wood No. 3 Binder that enables it to give three to five times as many years of service as ordinary binders.

We would like the privilege of showing you the construction of this binder, then you can be your own judge as to its strength. We would also like to point out to you the advantages of the Eccentric Sprocket Wheel, which is found on no other binder. This Eccentric Sprocket Wheel makes mowing, more compact, easier-to-shock binders and discharges them faster than ordinary binders. We also wish you to see the No. 3 Header, which never hesitates on stubble, no matter how hard and fast you ask it to work.

Drop in on us at your earliest convenience. We'll be pleased to see you any time. We believe we will make your visit interesting, too.

We have good markets for all the butter we can make. We would ask all the farmers and dairymen who are not supplying us with cream to give us a trial. Bring the cream in with you, or have our wagon call for it, and we will pay you in full on or before the 20th of each month for cream received in the month just past.

We are agents for the De Laval Cream Separator and have a good stock of repairs on hand for these machines.

"SPANISH PRISONER" BEING WORKED HERE.

Agriculturists at Lacombe Being Played For Suckers by International Crooks.

The mounted police have unearthed what they believe to be the old "Spanish Prisoner" hoax, and by using two letters they hope to be able to entrap a gang of expert swindlers who are thought to be operating in Alberta at the present time. This gang has been working in the States for a number of years, but the two identical letters sent to farmers at Lacombe are believed to be their first operations in Alberta.

The scheme is a very old one, and the letters give an insight into the way it is worked, the basis of it being to entrap a large sum of money for certain assistance and also to play on the sympathies of the world be victims.

The method followed is to pick on a certain district and mail letters to many residents of that district informing them that the writer is in prison in Madrid, Spain, and asking the receiver of the letter to grant assistance to the victim to obtain his release and also to help him recover his baggage which is said to have been seized.

In their letters the swindlers go on to explain that the writer has a large sum of money in America, and that the document necessary in order to obtain the money is in a secret pocket of the portmanteau which has been seized. To raise the money it is pointed out that a payment of $2,400 is necessary, and the letter asks the proposed victim to go to Spain and advance the money. For this he is to receive one third of the money coming to the prisoner, but which cannot be got until the document is recovered. In case the victim dies and journeys to Spain he is met by bogus court officials and pays over the money in a fake court. The game is an old one, but many persons have been caught by it.

The letter sent to the Lacombe farmers, whose names are withheld at the request of the mounted police, reads as follows:

Madrid, Spain, May 6, 1910.
Although I know you only from good references as to your honesty my and situation compels me to reveal to you an important affair in which you can procure a modest fortune, saving that at the same time of my darling daughter.

Before being imprisoned here I was a banker in Russia, and you will see by the enclosed article about me that appeared in many English papers which have published my arrest in London. I beseech you to help me to obtain a sum of $450,000 which I have in America, and to come here to raise the nature of my baggage, paying to the registrar of the court the expenses of my trial and recovering my portmanteau in which I have hidden the document indispensable to the recovery of the said sum. As a reward I will give you a third part, viz: $150,000.

I cannot receive your answer in a prison, but you must send a cablegram to a person in my confidence who will deliver it to me.
Awaiting your cable to instruct you in my secret, I am, sir

Yours truly,

DEMIDOFF.

P.S.—First of all answer by cable not by letter, as follows: G.
Gomulvar, Yacomestreno, 23 terrace A, Madrid D.

One of the farmers who received the letter above immediately cabled to the address given, and in a short time was in receipt of a long letter consisting of five closely written sheets of foolscap. In this letter the writer, now signing himself "Alexander Demidoff," gave his whole history. He said that some time ago he was about to be arrested in Russia for fraudulent bankruptcy, and was compelled to fly. Prior to his flight he sent his daughter in company with a lady friend to Spain, and fifteen days afterwards he himself set sail for America and proceeded to Chicago where he deposited $450,000 in a bank there, and obtained for same a cheque payable to bearer. Keeping 600,000 francs in ready money in his pocket, he placed the cheque in a secret compartment of his portmanteau and sailed to Spain to meet his daughter. During the time he was in America the writer claims to have been in disguise and under an assumed name, but on arrival in Spain, he says, he assumed his right name.

Now comes the most ingenious part of this story, for the alleged Demidoff claims that shortly after his arrival in Spain the companion whom he had engaged for his daughter robbed him of all his ready money and decamped. He afterwards met her brother and informed him of what the woman had done, only to be coolly informed that the woman was acting under her brother's orders, and that if Demidoff made any complaint he would be exposed as an embodiment wanted in Russia.

According to the letter, this so enraged Demidoff that, in his anger, he drew a revolver and shot the man, fatally wounding him.
Demidoff then says he fled to England, but was arrested, brought back to Spain and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. The letter then goes on to explain that the reason Demidoff chose the Lacombe farmer, was because a countryman of the farmer's was imprisoned with him in Madrid, and had spoken very highly of him as an honest man. In the letter, instructions are enclosed which the victim is to follow out, and a cypher code is given to be used by the farmer in telegraphing his progress from different points.

The mounted police characterize the whole affair as an audacious attempt at swindling, and although Lacombe is under the jurisdiction of Superintendent Outhbert of the Edmonton division, they are issuing a warning to the people of the province at large.

SHALL CANADA GO MONEY-MAD?

A Dominion Day Message by Sir Edmund Walker.

We are becoming accustomed to the idea that we possess the area of cultivable soil and the other natural resources necessary to support one of the largest of the nations in the western half of the world. We are receiving new population at a rate quite as large as we can care for, having regard to those already in Canada.

We are told that we are to feed nations whose food supply will become exhausted, and we are to supply, if we will, raw material in order that the wheels in other countries may not be idle. We have also the water power, the raw material and the quality of labor which will make us one of the greatest of the manufacturing countries in the western world.
We have a climate fit to produce a great race physically. We are rapidly conquering the difficulties of transportation on our own land and water, and we are linking ourselves with the rest of the world across the various oceans. We have a sound system of law, a system of education doubtless inadequate to our needs, but improving, an excellent banking system, and our national credit is so great as to be a possible source of danger.
If we can but conserve our resources we are, therefore, assured of material prosperity. Indeed, it seems so sure that we shall be one of the richest of the newer nations that we are fast becoming a vain and self-satisfied people.

But while these brilliant prospects are well founded, is it all right with us as a nation? I am sure that all is not right. We have seen a democracy which began with almost the noblest principles ever decried in a national manifesto, and which certainly was far from believing that money was a measure of national greatness, become by too much devotion to money-making a vast nation of discontented people ruled by a few plutocrats.

Is this to be our future? Is not our measure of success today largely one of money? What is the use of denying that we are at present too much in love with material prosperity? But we are not so grossly in love with it as our friends to the south. We can still recall the time when a large part of our people had other ambitions.
We still recognize that no nation built on material prosperity alone can endure.

When we find a man who has devoted his life only to making money, and who has not created anything worth while in doing so, who cannot read books, enjoy beautiful things or indulge in sport, we know that he has thrown his previous life away. What, then, must be the fate of a nation which does not give due place to the intellectual and the artistic in life?

The writer has been nearly fifty years in a business in which money is the chief concern. He has spent much of his life in the study of our industries and in the study of the balance sheets of industrial concerns. He certainly does not undervalue industrial effort or the money arising from it.
It was Kate Greenaway in one of her poems for children who said the "wise thing about money":
"It's bad to have money; it's worse to have none"—bad to have too much and worse to have too little.

One of the greatest aids to our national building will be our industrial prosperity; but let us remember that this prosperity should be like three meals a day to a workingman. It should merely give us the basis on which to do the real work of the nation. And the real work is to build up the intellectual life of our people; to create teachers, jurists, legislators, philosophers, scientists, investigators and artists; military leaders and soldiers for our national defence; great administrators of public trusts; and, generally, men who whether on the platform, in the counting house, or in the marketplace, are not ashamed to urge the supreme importance of character.

A Triumph for our Civilization.

The decline of prize fighting and the assumption that the prize fighter of today will be a distinct curio within probably six or eight years, has led a sporting writer to predict that some day the world may be peopled with a flat chested, flabby muscled race of men, short of stature, narrow of shoulders and high of forehead.

It seems a little too much to presume that this will be the apex to our civilization and that with prize fighting out of favor we shall have advanced another step toward the dire end. It does not seem much for the score or so of athletic sports which are more popular today, among both sexes, than they have ever been before.
It does not seem much for the Marathon races which are doing considerable towards replacing the brutal pugilistic encounters. The statement could be made with much stronger emphasis that the trend of the times is for clean sport that results in the upbuilding of strong physical manhood.
Prize fighting has always been a means to an end which and has been the separating of the public from their coin.

One of the principal reasons for the decline of prize fighting is the anti-betting campaign which has been so successfully carried on in the States. A movement is now on foot and it has the approbation of the leading fight followers, to trundle the entire boxing outfit of the United States across the line into Juarez, Mexico. It is likely that Juarez will become the mecca of North America because betting is allowed there and it is considered just as probable that it may become the centre of pug-ilism. Great stress in both cases is placed on the fact that every form of sport thrives in Mexico and betting is unrestricted.

That prize fighting sees its doom in the anti-betting crusade will be taken, at least by the "high forehead" class, to be a triumph for our civilization.

Excursion to Lacombe.

Announcement is made by the department of agriculture that under its auspices excursion trains will be run to the Lacombe experimental farm on Friday, July 29th.
A train will leave Strathcona at 8.45 a.m., returning at 6.15 p.m.
Another excursion will also be run from Castor to Lacombe, leaving Castor at 5.30 by the regular train and returning at 6.45 by a special train.

Guides will be provided by the superintendent of the farm to explain points of interest to the visitors. After the inspection of the farm addresses will be given by prominent agriculturists. As an inducement to bands to attend a fare of half the regular excursion rate is held out.

turned to his home in Nebraska
